Willkommen in Aachen

Dear Media Representatives,

Giant leaps can be expected once again this year at the CHIO Aachen: The best athletes from all over the world will ensure that top sporting performances are enjoyed in five disciplines which will be met by jubilation from the crowds. Around 350,000 CHIO visitors will cheer on the top athletes over the ten days of the show with a mixture between equestrian sport expertise and absolute exaltation.

The Aachen-Laurensberger Rennverein as organisers of the CHIO have made great leaps with its choice of partner country this year too. Many guests from far-away China will be travelling to Aachen to enrapture the CHIO visitors with their Far Eastern culture and lifestyle – especially during the spectacular, floodlit Opening Ceremony on the Tuesday of the show.

The fact that the CHIO Aachen also makes huge leaps in a media sense is primarily thanks to your coverage, dear media representatives. You carry the occurrences here at the World Equestrian Festival all over the globe via various channels. I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your dedicated work!

We strive to offer you the best possible framework conditions and services for your work. Particularly our press intranet provides you with comprehensive information fast in real-time and on a daily basis. Here you will not only find news and flash quotes, our committed press team is additionally at your disposal to answer any further questions you may have.

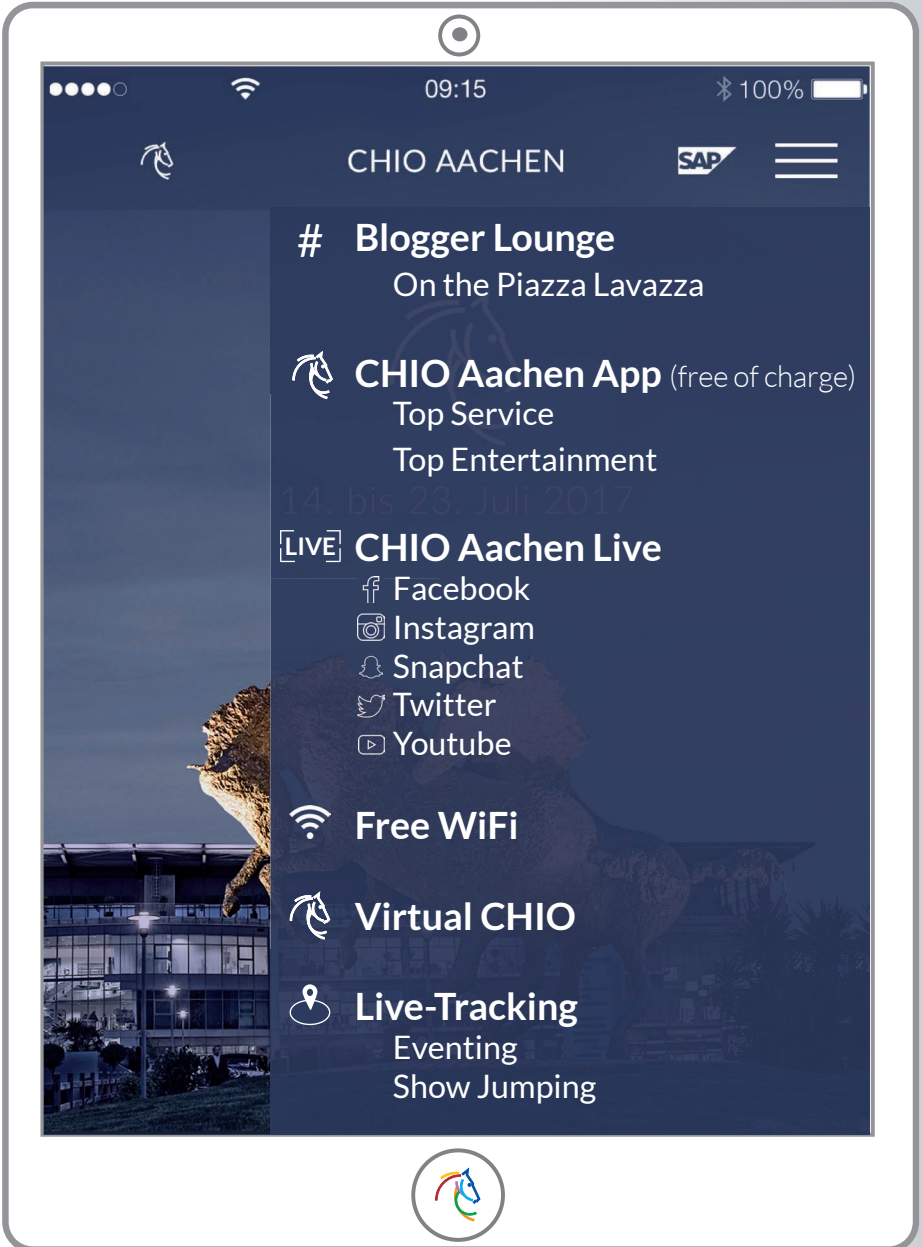

I am delighted that you have joined us for the CHIO Aachen 2018 and wish you plenty of fun and success in your work!

Yours sincerely,

Carl Meulenbergh
President of the Aachen-Laurensberger Rennverein e.V. (ALRV)

Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping

Rolex Grand Slam of Show Jumping

The Rolex Grand Slam is unique in the world of the professional equestrian sport because it unites four Majors with each other: CHIO Aachen, Spruce Meadows 'Masters', CHI Geneva and The Dutch Masters in 's-Hertogenbosch. Along the Rolex Grand Prix staged there are endowed with 5 million Euros in total – on top of which there is also the opportunity to pick up an additional bonus. However, high prize-money isn't what exclusively entitles the shows to be part of the Rolex Grand Slam. The highest level of factors such as tradition, large crowds, media presence and the show infrastructure are also prerequisites. A further component of the Rolex Grand Slam is the targeted promotion of aspiring young talents.

The system of the Rolex Grand Slam is simple: The rider that wins three shows in direct succession receives 1 million Euros in addition to the prize-money. Should the rider then succeed in adding a further triumph to his success story, by also taking the victory in a fourth Major, he picks up a further bonus totalling one million Euros. A rider that wins two of the four shows also claims a bonus. If the rider triumphs at two consecutive shows, the bonus is 500,000 Euros. If the athlete is successful according to the "two-out-of-four mode", but not two competitions in a row, the bonus is 250,000 Euros. In each case it is the rider, who counts, it is therefore also possible to win the bonus on different horses. This system is infinite, i.e. not bound to the calendar year at all. A never-ending story. The focus particularly lies on two show-jumpers at the CHIO Aachen 2018: Because Niels Bruynseels from Belgium and Philipp Weishaupt from Germany could write history if they jump to victory in the Rolex Grand Prix, the Grand Prix of Aachen. Because after his victory in 's-Hertogenbosch in the Netherlands, Bruynseels could continue on his personal Grand Slam journey and for Weishaupt the victory would mean he could walk away with the "two-out-of-four" bonus. To do so, two non-consecutive Major victories have to be achieved within one's personal Rolex Grand Slam cycle. Weishaupt was able to win the Spruce Meadows 'Masters' in September.

Aachen Youngstars 2018 – Entrance free!

Aachen Youngstars 2018

This is where the equestrian sport stars of tomorrow compete against each other: The best aspiring young show-jumpers have been taking part in the Salut Festival at the Soers in Aachen for over a quarter of a century. Here in four age groups they battle it out to see who claims the victories in the Grand Prix and the Indoor Champion titles.

In 2017, the organisers have added another spectacular weekend to the show calendar of the aspiring young athletes: The best international young dressage riders compete during the "Aachen Dressage Youngstars" from December 6th to 9th. One week earlier (November 29th to December 2nd, 2018), the show-jumpers will travel to Aachen again to show their skills at the "Aachen Jumping Youngstars – Salut Festival".

Together, the two events constitute the "Aachen Youngstars".

Entrance free of charge.

(for more detailed information please consult the official schedule eventing 2018 on www.chioaachen.com)

1.) DHL-Prize – Dressage Test (Day 1, Friday, 20th July 2018):

The eventers and their horses have to accomplish their first competition in the 20 x 60 metre sand dressage arena in the Deutsche Bank Stadium. Three judges, the so-called „Ground Jury“, mark the movements that have to be completed, from different positions around the arena (C, H and B). A maximum of 10 points can be awarded for each of the movements, which differ from each other in their complexity - among others the obedience of the horse, the precision, the movements of the horse as well as the rider's seat and correctness of aids are evaluated.

Test to be absolved from memory: FEI 2015 3* B

The mean value ensuing from the assessment of the three judges expresses the quality of the ride and is displayed to the spectators as a percentage. In addition - unlike in the specialised field of dressage - this result is then converted into minus points, which can later be added together to form the end result after the jumping and cross-country competitions.

The respective judge calculates the minus points as follows: (Percentage -100) x 1.5 The coefficient 1.5 was laid down by the International Equestrian Federation (FEI).

2.) DHL-Prize – Jumping Test (Day 1, Friday, 20th July 2018):

The eventers at the CHIO Aachen already ride into the Main Stadium with its capacity of 40,000 spectators on the afternoon of the first day. A course of max. 600 metres and 11 to 12 obstacles with the maximum height of 1.25 metres has to be absolved.

Error

- 1st Refusal
- 2nd Refusal
- Knocking a Fence/Pole down
- Fall of the Rider
- Fall of the Horse

Faults

- 4 Penalty Points
- Disqualification
- 4 Penalty Points
- Disqualification
- Disqualification

3.) DHL-Prize – Cross-Country Test (Day 2, Saturday, 21st July 2018)

Traditionally actually held as the second of the three competitions, in Aachen the cross-country phase - in the modern CIC format - will bring the eventing discipline to a spectacular close. The cross-country track, built by Rüdiger Schwarz, is 3,990 metres long and leads through the meadows of the Aachen Soers, directly next to the CHIO show grounds - so the spectators can easily reach it on foot. The competition's start takes place in the Soers meadows, the finishing line is located inside the CHIO's Main Stadium

After dressage and jumping, the penalty points are added, they are decisive for the starting order of the cross country competition. The 20 best riders start last. The competition has to be accomplished within a predetermined time (ideal average time 570 m/minute), and time penalties are added to the result for exceeding time (0.4 for every commenced second). 25 natural obstacles have to be jumped by the horses and their riders with nearly 35 efforts (single jumps). In comparison to the specialised sport of show jumping, not only the height and width of the obstacles are different, but the eventing horses and riders are also confronted with further difficulties that challenge the mutual trust and the balance, this can be optical aspects (narrow obstacles, brightness changes between dark and light passages, water obstacles) or the course's route (e.g. uphill/downhill). It is customary to offer an alternative route for difficult phases of demanding courses - as is the case in Aachen. The alternative route is easier to overcome and thus minimises the risk of the horse refusing, but it is longer than the direct way and thus takes more time.

Guideline for calculating the results of the cross-country competition:

Error

- 1st Refusal at an obstacle
- 2nd Refusal at the same obstacle
- 3rd Refusal
- Fall of the rider
- Fall of the horse

Faults

- 20 Penalty Points
- 40 Penalty Points
- Disqualification
- Disqualification
- Disqualification

Calculation of the Final Results:

The penalty points incurred in all three competition parts are added together for the final result. The competitor with the lowest total of penalty points wins.

The DHL-Prize consists of an individual and a team classification

C 1 DHL-Prize Individual Classification

- Total endowment: € 140,000
- The winning individual is the competitor with the lowest total of penalty points after the competition parts dressage, jumping and cross-country.

C 2 DHL-Prize Team Classification

- Total endowment: € 60,000
- The winning team is that with the lowest total of penalty points incurred in the competition parts dressage, jumping and cross-country, after adding together the final scores of the three best placed competitors in the team.

The "Moments of Luck" campaign – 20 years of social commitment at the CHIO Aachen

The „Moments of Luck“ campaign has established itself at CHIO Aachen as a successful charity project for therapeutic riding over the last 20 years. „For us – the organisers of CHIO Aachen – it is self-evident that we use the popularity and of our event to support charity and social projects,“ said ALRV President, Carl Meulenbergh. „The „Moments of Luck“ campaign is a paramount example for that. For over 20 years now it has been a fix part of the World Equestrian Festival.“ Over the past years, there has been raised a high sum of donations for the German Curatorship for Therapeutic Riding (DKThR) with the aid of the CHIO Aachen visitors.

The campaign is a joint project between the Aachen-Lau-rensberger Rennverein e. V. (ALRV)

the German Curatorship for Therapeutic Riding (DKThR) and the Children’s Support Fund of the DKThR. On Soers Sunday (July 15th) donations will be collected during the Ecumenical Service in the Deutsche Bank Stadium. After the service donation collectors wearing eye-catching orange T-shirts will be present all over the showgrounds. In the scope of the show programme on Soers Sunday, four DKThR-approved therapy centres from the Aachen region will be presented in the warm-up area. In addition to this, donation boxes can be found at the CHIO Aachen info desks throughout the entire week of the show. The donations will go in aid of the German Curatorship for Therapeutic Riding and the Children’s Support Fund of the DKThR as well as the four DKThR-approved therapy centres from the Aachen region.

In the year 2018, this initiative was expanded to include the "Dutch Masters" in 's-Hertogenbosch, the largest indoor show in the Netherlands. The rider, who wins three three shows in direct succession, claims the title, which is unique in the field of equestrian sports. In addition to the prize money, he receives 1 million Euros. If the rider then succeeds in continuing on his success story by winning the fourth Major, he additionally claims a further bonus of 1 Million Euros. Scott Brash was the first rider ever to claim the Rolex Grand Slam title in 2015. "Chinese Flair at the Soers": In 2018, the CHIO Aachen will bring together world class equestrian sport and the flair of the Far East. A special highlight is going to be the spectacular Opening Ceremony on July 17. CHIO Aachen Partner Country 2018: China

Chinese flair at the Soers

In 2018, world class equestrian sport is meeting up with the flair of the Far East in Aachen. Because CHIO Aachen is hosting guests from China and the country will particularly be playing a major role in the supporting programme with its numerous artists over the days of the show. A special highlight is going to be the official Opening Ceremony on July 17, when from 8 p.m. onwards the Chinese guests will impress the audience at the Soers with fantastic performances. For the last three years, the traditional Opening Ceremony has been presenting itself in the Main Stadium as the perfect entertainment show. The floodlit event lasts 90 minutes and is spectacular from start to finish.

The spectators can look forward to a colourful, magnificent and spectacular show this year too. Among other things China stands for a long circus tradition, so the artists from the Chinese National Circus certainly can't be missing on this evening. Of course, the lion and dragon dance is inseparably associated with Chinese culture and will thus make up part of the fascinating programme. "Manao - Drums of China" is a further exciting highlight on this evening. The 12 young ladies opened the Olympic Games in Peking with their enormous drums. It is also going to be interesting for the crowd to see how the Terracotta Army or Yin and Yang is going to be staged together with hundreds of horses and extras.

The organisers are receiving support among other things from the large Chinese community in Aachen, from whose ranks particularly schoolchildren and students will enrich the Opening Ceremony. There were two decisive reasons for the choice of this year's partner country: On the one hand, the organisers wanted to leave the borders of Europe again after Brazil took on the role of partner country in 2012. On the other hand, they have also maintained close relations to China for many years. In this way for instance the CHIO team has been co-organising an equestrian show at the Bird's Nest, the legendary Olympic Stadium of Peking since 2012.

Equestrian Sport in Germany

Source: German Equestrian Federation (FN), status as of 20th April, 2018

People and Horses

- According to a survey by Allensbacher Markt- & Werbeträgeranalyse (AWA/Allensbacher Markt & Advertising Analysis) in 2016 around 14 million respondents stated that they were interested in riding. Around 4 million were even particularly interested in this sport. Whereby exclusively over-14 year olds were interviewed. The survey also determined the number of riders in Germany: 3.89 million people refer to themselves as riders. 1.25 million people practise the sport intensively. 78 percent of them are women. Furthermore, there are approx. 900,000 horse owners in Germany.
- According to the projections of the FN, which are based on various surveys and figures, such as for instance the IPSOS survey, the animal diseases fund and the Allensbacher Markt- und Werbeträgeranalyse (AWA), approx. 1.3 million horses live in Germany.

Organised Horse Sport in Germany

(All of the subsequent figures relate to the year 2017)

- The German Equestrian Federation (Fédération Equestre Nationale/FN), the overall national association of equestrian sports, is the world's largest horse sport association. Within the German Olympic Sports Confederation (DOSB), the German National Federation is on rank 8 with 687.036 members (previous year: 690.995).
- Equestrian sport is very popular with females: About 78 % of the FN members (537.157) are girls and women while the male group is much smaller with 149.879 members.
- Most of the members are registered in the regional association of Westphalia (98.636), followed by Baden Württemberg (97.985), Bavaria (92.043), Hannover (81.805), Hesse (68.957) and Rhineland (59.597). If Westphalia and Rhineland were added, North Rhine-Westphalia would have 158.233 and Lower Saxony (Hannover/Bremen and Weser-Ems) 131.375 club members.

Organisational Structure of the German Equestrian Federation (FN)

- The "Deutsche Reiterliche Vereinigung e. V. (FN)" is the umbrella organisation for 17 regional horse sport organisations with 7.521 riding and driving clubs. The breeding sector comprises 25 German breeding organisations whose focus is laid on breeding the German Warmblood Horse.
- Directly affiliated to the FN (or its associated organisations) are also 3.709 commercial horse centres and 58.879 personal members.

Competition Sport

In the year 2017,

- 3.619 (previous year: 3.539) equestrian events with 59.481 (previous year: 68.726) competitions and 1.431.453 (previous year: 1.463.977) starts were run. Prize-money reached a sum of 32.449.673 (previous year: 31.996.514) Euro.
- the FN issued 82.983 (previous year: 82.877) annual licences which are needed to be eligible for competing. 1.543 thereof (previous year: 1.542) were licences for foreign riders competing in German national events. Moreover, 9.291 adolescents and adults got their first competition experience with a trial licence (previous year: 8.577).
- the FN updated licences for 137.806 (previous year: 141.240) competition horses and issued 2.539 (previous year: 2.472) new FEI passports for horses competing internationally. 21.758 (previous year: 24.006) of these competition horses were registered for the first time.
- 56,71 % of all competition horses were aged 5 to 10, 26,49 % were aged 11 to 15. 7,66 % of the horses were 3 to 4 years old, another 9 % were 16 years or over.

German Horse Breeding

German studbooks have a significant share in the success of German horse sport.

- In 2017, 2.997 (previous year: 3.185) riding horse sires and 52.757 (previous year: 53.151) riding horse brood mares as well as a total of 25.255 (previous year: 24.525) riding horse foals were registered. The number of coverings of warmblood mares slightly increased to 31.733 in comparison to 31.195 in 2016. This is a surplus of 1,72 %.
- Summing up all horse and pony breeds of the 25 studbooks affiliated to the FN, from Akhal-Teke to Tinker, the following stock of breeder animals was reported in 2017: 7.610 stallions (previous year 7.816), 80.416 brood mares (previous year: 81.075) and 37.080 foals (previous year: 35.718).
- In addition, we recorded 3.439 pony and small horse stallions of all breeds (previous year: 3.483) 19.568 pony and small horse brood mares (previous year: 19.779) and 8.336 foals (previous year: 8.122).
- In 2017, 181 riding horse stallions (previous year: 190) passed the 14-day performance test for stallions; 72 stallions (previous year: 147) underwent the 50-day performance test. 2.759 brood mares (previous year: 2.951) gave proof of their performance capability in stationary and field tests.
- At the Olympic Games in Rio 2016 of the 223 horses entered in total – including the reserve horses – 70 horses descended from German breeding stock. As such, almost 30 percent of all of the horses entered in the disciplines Dressage, Jumping and Eventing were of German origin. In the Jumping discipline 24 of the 89 horses in total descended from German breeding stock. That corresponds to 27 percent. Of the 69 dressage horses entered in London, 26 horses were German-bred, that corresponds to 37.7 percent. An increase has also been observed in the Eventing. 20 of the 75 horses belong to German breeding associations, i.e. 26.7 percent; whereas in Hong Kong in 2008, only four of the 73 horses were bred in Germany. Having notched up five gold, five silver and seven bronze medals, the German-bred horses won 17 of the 45 possible medals (37.8 percent). The German horses won nine of these seventeen medals in the Dressage and six in Eventing.

Horses – The Economic Factor

- For more than 10,000 companies, craftsman's establishments and service providers in Germany, the horse is their direct or indirect main subject of business activity.
- The turnover of the German horse industry is about 6.7 billion Euros. These include 39 % of the expenditure on equestrian management and 61 % on retail and services.
- At the 2017 horse sale auctions of the studbooks, 921 iding horses were sold at an average price of 24.240 Euro. The total turnover at these auctions was 22.325.110 Euro (previous year: 909 iding horses, average price 23.569 Euro, total turnover 21.424.476 Euro). Furthermore, around 1.700 breeding horses and foals as well as ponies and heavy draught horses were auctioned by the studbooks. Thus 2.621 horses and ponies changed ownership on studbook auction sales.

The City of Aachen

Aachen without horses? Unthinkable.

The horse belongs to Aachen like the port does to Hamburg, like the Brandenburger Tor does to Berlin. The foundation of the city goes back to a horse. In Aachen this can, of course, only have been the horse of Charlemagne. It is said that his horse once pawed the earth with his hoof and thereby discovered the famous hot Aachen springs during a hunting trip. This was the beginning of Aachen's career as Charlemagne's favourite palace and as a spa and bathing city.

The people in Aachen call such stories „Ameröllche“. When they talk about the famous annual horse show at the city's gates in the Soers, they say „Tschio“. If you pronounced the tournament's title correctly you would say „C - H - I - O“. The „Concours Hippique International Officiel“ is the world's most renowned equestrian event. Every year the world's best riders and drivers meet in the Soers to compete in front of an audience of more than 350,000 visitors. The show is famous for its extraordinarily fair and euphoric audience, the top level sport and its atmosphere which is similar to a folk festival.

The City of Aachen

But Aachen is associated with much more than only top international horse sport. Almost 150 equestrian companies, 22 indoor arenas, dozens of riding clubs and over 40 kilometres of riding tracks form a perfect infrastructure for riding as popular sport within the city's environs. So it is not a surprise that Aachen, situated in the border triangle with Belgium and the Netherlands, was awarded the title "Horse Friendly Community" in 2002. Aachen's high identification with the horse and equestrian sports can be found in many places in the city.

The famous horse sculpture of Bonifatius Stirnberg welcomes travellers at the main train station, and near the city theatre stands the Smiling Stallion of Gerhard Marcks. Located in the centre of Europe, the city of the International Charlemagne Prize is also a science centre of international reputation. Impressions of the horse, European and research city with its official Elite University can be seen online on www.aachen-emotion.com.

Essential Aachen Highlights

Aachen has a lot to offer, and if you only have limited time to spend, there are difficult choices to make in what to select. Therefore, we have composed seven Aachen sights that are an absolute must for the visitor. For any questions about the City of Aachen, please contact the aachen tourist service. Information under www.aachen-tourist.de or Tel. +49-241-180 29 60.

Aachen Cathedral and Treasury

The Aachen “Dom” (Cathedral), which has been given the status of a world cultural heritage site, is the former Palace Chapel of Charlemagne. Still today, this magnificent building fascinates visitors who gaze upwards to the 32 meters high dome and admire the Barbarossa chandelier (1180), the shrines of Charlemagne and Mary (13th century) as well as the legendary throne of Charlemagne. This is the historic site of the coronation of more than 30 German kings (from 936 to 1531). The gothic choir of the cathedral with its 27 meters high windows (1414) is a masterpiece of its time. The adjacent Treasury exhibits another 100 works of sacral art such as the famous bust of Charlemagne (approx. 1349). (www.aachendom.de)

City Hall

The City Hall, the first stop on the “Route Charlemagne”, was built on the foundations of the former main hall of Charlemagne’s palace. Today, it is a place of Europe’s living past where you can view an interactive exhibition with the help of an “Aixplorer” audio-visual guide to get a first-hand feel for the history – past and present – of this building, the city and Europe as well. Opposite the city hall, in Haus Löwenstein, there is an exhibition on the planned “Route Charlemagne”.

Historic Old Town

Aachen’s Old Town has a lot of flair – atmospheric lanes and alleyways, numerous shops, pubs, cafés and restaurants invite visitors to stroll and window-shop. The people of Aachen and their guests enjoy the Mediterranean ambience of the city and its historic buildings and picturesque burgher houses. The spa city of Aachen is also the city of fountains and sculptures. Puppet Fountain, Chicken Thief, Fish Pond, Türelüre-Liðje or Karls Fountain – the wide variety of Aachen fountains on their own make a rewarding tour.

Elisenbrunnen / Eisenpark

As early as Roman times, the hot thermal springs (approx. 38-74°C) have made Aachen a well-known spa for rheumatic ailments. A representation of the former glamorous spa and bathing city is the Elisa Fountain with its magnificent colonnades that was built from 1822 to 1828 according to the plans of Karl Friedrich Schinkel. Take your time to study the marble plaques with the names of the celebrities of past centuries. The 2013 opened "Archaeological Showcase" offers views into 5.000 years of Aachen's

Couven-Museum

The Couven-Museum is also called "Aachen's most famous living room". Situated in a beautiful 17th century building right in the historic centre of Aachen, it shows the development of the style of living of the 18th and 19th century. The rooms display a harmonious ensemble of several middle class furniture styles from Rococo to the early Classicism of Louis-Seize, the Napoleonic empire style and Biedermeier. (www.couven-museum.de)

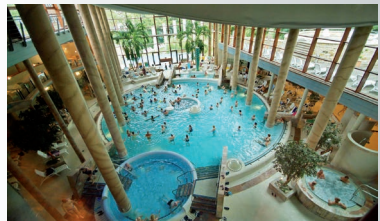

International Newspaper Museum

The International Newspaper Museum newly opened in 2011: the Newspaper Museum occupies an imposing 15th century house and is home to one of the 21st century's most up-to-the-minute international media presentations. It vividly conveys media literacy in a contemporary style, showing approximately 200,000 newspapers published over a period of 500 years. (www.izm.de)

Carolus Thermen Bad Aachen

"Sanus per Aquam" - healthy by water. This saying was valid in the olden days of the kings, and also today the visitors of the Carolus Thermen can experience this. With the most modern wellness comfort in the four worlds of relaxation "Thermal World", "Sauna World", "Indulgence World" and "Gourmet World", the bathing guest can enjoy the water's healing power on body and soul. Dive into the famous Aachen waters! (www.carolus-thermen.de)
